

As a resident of San Antonio, Clear Channel's global headquarters, i've been exposed to the detrimental affect that their near-monopoly of the airwaves has had on increasingly homogenized radio playlists, dissatisfied listeners and struggling independent musicians, and nearly all of the billboards in the city trumpeting this company's virtues. Please, do not turn a deaf ear to the voices of the citizens to which your commission should be answerable.

andy gately